Introduction

When a concern begins to impact your work performance, relationships and overall wellbeing, SupportLinc offers confidential guidance and valuable expert resources to help you resolve everyday issues. The program is a mental health benefit offered by your employer and is separate from your medical insurance.

Introduction | Eligibility | Access

Eligibility

Who is eligible?

- Employees
- Spouse and dependents
- Household members

This program is available to you, your spouse, dependents and household members. This includes dependent children under the age of 26, whether they live in your household or not. For children under the age of 18, a custodial parent or legal guardian should contact the program first to establish the most appropriate plan of action.

In-the-moment support

Your program offers in-the-moment support and guidance to cope with various concerns. All calls to the program are answered live, 24/7/365, by an experienced and licensed professional counselor – there is no phone tree to navigate. These clinicians, also known as Care Advocates, can help address anxiety, depression, grief, relationship and parenting issues, work-related stress and substance use. During your initial call, the Care Advocate will listen to your concerns, provide in-the-moment support and work with you to build a care plan.

In-the-moment support | Short-term counseling | Coaching

Short-term counseling

If the most appropriate next step in your care plan is short-term counseling, your Care Advocate will refer you to a counselor who is available at a time and place that is most convenient for you. The provider your Care Advocate refers you to will be within your health plan network so that if you exceed the number of free visits covered under your SupportLinc program, you can continue to obtain care from the same provider. If you need additional assistance beyond short-term counseling, your Care Advocate will help you find the most appropriate resource and will assist you in getting connected.

If you prefer to set up an appointment yourself, visit your web portal to schedule care directly with a counselor of your choice at a convenient date and time for you.

Coaching

A Coach can help you boost your emotional fitness, learn healthy habits, establish new routines, build resilience and more. Coaching differs from counseling in that a Coach focuses on goal setting, problem-solving and behavior change, whereas counseling addresses mental health concerns such as depression, anxiety, substance use and more.

Text therapy

Whether you want to start small or make a big life change, a little bit of support can go a long way.

Textcoach® is a convenient, stigma-free platform that allows you to exchange text messages, voice notes, videos and other helpful resources with your Coach. Communication between you and your Coach is encrypted and secure. Coaches have at least five years of clinical experience and are board-certified, which ensures you get the best quality support for technology-driven care.

Have a teenager who could benefit from speaking with a Coach? Your program also offers Textcoach® for teens with parental consent.

Virtual group support

When dealing with a challenge at home or work, group support can offer perspective, encouragement and, most importantly, the reassurance that you are not alone. The Virtual Support Connect platform allows you to join confidential moderated group sessions hosted by licensed counselors. When you join a session, only the moderator will be on video while you and all other users participate via text. In addition to leading the session, the moderator will post tip sheets, exercises and links to resources. Topics include stress, grief, mindfulness, preventing burnout and more.
